DAWES THROWS OUT BOLD CHALLENGE AT PITTSBURG

Tells His Hearers They
Must Choose Between
Sinking Sands of Reds
and Rock of Loyalty.

URGES A BIG VOTE

By ALBERT BAENZIGER

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 22.—At an enthusiastic meeting in the Harris theatre, Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential candidate reiterated his challenge to those advocating changes in the constitution declaring that the fate of the nation depended on whether or not the citizens go to the polls this November.

"The Socialists led by La Follette could have us throw overboard from the ship of state the compass which has steered us for the last 125 years," Dawes said.

"What other issue can there be in the face of this attack on the constitution? What would become of wages, price of farm products—what would become of anything?"

The candidate discussed conditions in Russia, and declared that people there would have to once more build up from the bottom their "bill of rights."

"Where do you stand?" Dawes demanded, "on the sinking sands of radicalism holding the red flag or on the rocks of the constitution?"

Thousands of workers from the downtown district watched the parade for the General through the downtown district and the streets before the theatre were packed with those unable to gain admittance.

General Dawes party will leave here at 2:15 this afternoon, stopping at Washington, Pa., at 3:30 for a brief platform speech.

DEATH TOLL IN THE CRUISER TRENTON EXPLOSION MOUNTS

12 Now Dead and One
More May Die In What
Naval Men Say Is the
First Kind of Blast.

A FRICTION SPARK

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 22. (INS).—The death toll in the explosion of firing powder aboard the U. S. Cruiser Trenton mounted higher today. Four more deaths at the naval hospital at Portsmouth this morning brought the total deaths to 12. There is a probability it will be 13 before nightfall, as physicians said John Uzzolino of Newark, N. J., suffered internal burns which may cause death.

Those who died this morning were Arthur J. McCormick, Charlestown, Mass., and Franklin B. Jeffrey, of Lynn, Mass.; George D. Luker, of Newark, N. Y., and George J. Caffney of New York City.

The explosion in the forward turret of the Trenton is said to have been the first of its kind in the American navy. There have been other explosions, naval officers say, but in every instance the cause of it was traceable to sparks from gun breeches, back fire or flashes from electric wires.

But the gun on the Trenton had not been fired and it is the theory of naval men that in hoisting the charge preparatory to firing the ten-inch rifle, metal on the apparatus caused friction that set off the powder charge.

A total of 50 pounds of powder exploded. The cruiser is not seriously damaged, it is said, the exploding loose powder being less destructive and more in the nature of a fire than would have been an explosion of shells.

Under orders of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, three ordnance experts from Washington will arrive here today or tomorrow to assist in the investigation about the Trenton to ascertain the cause of the explosion. Officers from the scouting fleet will compose the board of inquiry and will be selected by Rear Admiral McCully's commander. The investigation is expected to begin tomorrow.

One officer, Lieut. John A. Sedgwick, of Winthrop, Mass., and 11 men are under treatment at the naval hospital. Most of them will be discharged within a week, it was announced.

Lieut. Sedgwick was one of the outstanding heroes of the disaster. Blown overboard into a rough sea by the force of the explosion, he saved the lives of two men struggling in the water. A life belt thrown to him from the cruiser, he refused to don, and instead placed it around one of the men stunned by the force of the blast. Sedgwick is burned about the face and head and sustained a sprained wrist.

Ghizzoni, 23, Thomas 1; Territory 7, Ghizzoni 5, Thomas 1; Territory 8, Ghizzoni 23, Thomas 6; Territory 9, Ghizzoni 2, Thomas 1. Total Ghizzoni 110, Thomas 35.

H. E. Carletti carried 13 locals in Territory No. 5 and Jurchak carried three locals and Eli Potts, 1. A protest has been filed against the vote cast at the small Adrian local which if substantiated will take Jurchak off the ticket, leaving Carletti without opposition at the general election the second Tuesday in December.

Two Butler Babies Suffocate In Fire; Mother In Basement

Butler, Pa., Oct. 22. (INS).—Two children of Patrick Mahoney, Louis, aged three and Leona, aged one, were suffocated to death today when their home was damaged by fire. The children were sleeping in a third story room in which there was an open stove, the mother and an older daughter having gone to the basement.

When the mother discovered the fire she was seriously burned trying to save the children and is in the Butler hospital.

Another child of the family was burned to death five years ago.

MOSHANNON COAL MINING INSTITUTE MEETS TOMORROW

The Moshannon Coal Mining Institute will hold its regular semi-annual meeting in the convention hall of the Hotel Phillips, Phillipsburg, Pennsylvania at 6:30 p. m. sharp on October 23, 1924.

The committee in charge of the meeting has made arrangements for furnishing a very good baked ham dinner and has secured some very good speakers to make addresses, among whom are Mr. H. I. Smith, chief of mining supervisor of the Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Rush M. Hosler, superintendent of Pennsylvania Rating Bureau, Harrisburg, and Mr. Francis Feehan, mine safety commissioner, United States Bureau of Mines, Pittsburgh. In addition to these several other men prominent in the mining industry will be on hand and will give short informal talks upon subjects of interest to the men in attendance.

The Moshannon Coal Mining Institute has been organized among the mining men of this district for the past several years and has a membership of 132. It is conducted solely in the interest of the mining industry as a whole but furnishes a common ground on which members in this immediate district can meet, become acquainted and discuss problems which are common to this district. It is the desire of the officers and the executive committee as well as the members in order to be of the greatest service to the industry that as many persons as are interested in coal mining or its affiliated branches should be in attendance and partake in the discussions at this meeting. A nominal charge will be made for the dinner that is served but the discussions will be open to anybody in attendance and an invitation is extended to all interested parties to attend this meeting.

Davis Concentrates On New York State; Al And John Are Hard Pressed

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 22.—John W. Davis today completed battle plans for staging the supreme effort of his presidential campaign on a drive to carry New York City.

Davis who came here for a final sortie into Indiana, approved a program by which he will devote the last week of his campaign to a whirlwind tour of New York's five boroughs, beginning next Saturday, the drive will last until the eve of election.

In order to give more time to the New York cause, Davis cancelled a proposed trip to New England. His board of strategy, it was said, advised against his appearance in Boston because of local factional differences and advocated additional dates in the metropolis. The nomination also shortened his western drive to favor New York City. This plan of action was decided upon as the result of the earnest request of George Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, who told the nominee a personal drive there to close the campaign would swing New York into the Democratic column. On the result of this venture, it was plainly indicated, rested the nominees' hopes for success on Nov. 4.

Davis feels he may win the Presidency without New York's 45 electoral votes, it was said he is absolutely confident of success if he carries the entire state. The candidate came here this morning from Louisville to fill an afternoon speaking engagement. He was scheduled to close his Indiana campaign tonight with an address in Evansville. He will leave then for Ohio to speak Thursday night at Cleveland while eastward bound for New York where he arrives late Friday.

The New York city drive will begin Saturday with a woman's meeting at the Hotel Commodore, to be followed by meetings that night on Staten Island and in the Bronx. On Monday, Oct. 27, Davis will make two speeches in New Jersey and the remainder of the week in New York City. His campaign will close Saturday, November 1, with a night address in Carnegie hall.

Davis injected a new note into his campaign at Louisville by charging the Republican party with rising a "slush fund" to win the election. He virtually charged the Republicans

JUST TO KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT FARMERS OF THE NATION HAD NO PART IN ORGANIZATION OF THE LA FOLLETTE PARTY OR IN MAKING HIM A CANDIDATE

How Can La Follette
Hope to Be Favored In
West When His Record
Is Against Him?

NO FARMER FRIEND

There were few, if any, farmers among those who composed the La Follette convention at Cleveland. The convention itself was called by a group of organizations in which there was no bona fide farm organization, the so-called delegates to their seats lette Cleveland convention were hand picked from a group of organizations in which there was no bona fide farm organization. The committee on credentials, which passed on the right of the so-called delegates to their seats, did not contain a farmer or anyone representing agriculture.

No farmer or representative either of a farming community or a bona fide farm organization was permitted to be an officer at the La Follette Cleveland convention.

No farmer or representative either of a farming community or a bona fide farm organization was on any of the standing committees of the La Follette Cleveland convention.

No farmer or representative of a farm community had anything to do with the writing of the platform of the Cleveland convention. No farmer or representative of a farm community was a member of the committee which presented La Follette's name to the convention as its candidate.

No farmer or representative either of a farming community or a bona fide farm organization was on the committee appointed to notify La Follette of his selection.

Farmer Ignored Entirely. Senator La Follette's letter of acceptance was addressed to a group of organizations in which there is no farm organization, a group in which the farming communities and agricultural sections of the United States have no voice or representation.

No farmer or representative of any bona fide farm organization is a member of the national committee of the La Follette party. No farmer or representative of any bona fide farm organization is a member of the La Follette campaign committee.

Throughout the La Follette movement, from its inception to the present time, the farmer has been absolutely ignored in the selection of delegates, the formulation of policies, and the direction of the campaign. The only purpose he serves in the La Follette scheme is to furnish the votes.

On the other hand, and in striking contrast to the treatment accorded the farmers, the La Follette party leaders, many of them socialists, have not a single opportunity to recognize the national Socialist party and other radical organizations whose interests are diametrically opposed to the interests of agriculture. The La Follette party even went so far as to give the national Socialist party's official organization special representation on the La Follette national committee, adding to that committee official representatives of the Socialist party in a number equal to ten per cent of the total membership of the committee. This was in addition to the Socialists who were already members of the committee.

Farm Bills in Congress.

Only two major agricultural measures were before the last session of the Congress for consideration—the Norbeck-Burness bill and the McNary-Haugen bill. The Norbeck-Burness bill was considered in the Senate. There were several test votes taken before the bill itself was voted upon. The roll call record shows that Senator La Follette did not vote at all upon any of the test votes in connection with the Norbeck-Burness bill and did not vote on the bill itself.

The McNary-Haugen bill was considered in the House. The minority report against the bill was written by Representative Voigt, a La-Follette lieutenant from Wisconsin, who, presented the report to the House, made the strongest speech that was made against the bill. He said that the McNary-Haugen bill was a "slush fund" to win the election. He virtually charged the Republicans with a "slush fund" to win the election. He virtually charged the Republicans

"KEEP A PRESIDENT WHO WATCHES THE NICKLES"—DAWES

By ALBERT BAENZIGER

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Enroute With General Dawes in Pennsylvania, Oct. 22.—Gen. Charles G. Dawes, vice presidential candidate, as enroute to Pittsburgh today from Philadelphia, where he spoke last night. He will speak on the constitution at noon today in the Harris theatre in Pittsburgh.

Later he will deliver an address in Washington, Pa., before crossing into West Virginia, where tonight in Wheeling he will deliver his first speech in that state.

Dawes' friends said today that his Philadelphia speech was "the greatest oratorical effort he has made thus far in the campaign." He went into details of the budget and surprised the audience by asserting that the law creating it was only an incident in its accomplishment and that the whole plan could have been put into effect without the budget law.

He said the reason that was not done before President Harding created him director of the budget was because former presidents had not taken a position as head of a routine business organization.

Dawes warned against experimentation in a change of administration in these words:

"This government is safe in its present system of doing business, just as long as the President of the United States keeps his position as head of the routine business organization."

"If you go making any rash experiments and changing the President when you have a good President in a close President who watches the nickles—well, you look out."

SPEAKING OF STRAW VOTES

A "count of noses" was taken by a "loud-mouthed politician" in the smoking car on the morning B. & O. passenger train from DuBois this morning and of the seventeen men aboard one was for Coolidge, one for Davis while the other fifteen expressed themselves as favoring La Follette. As was to be expected the La-Follette supporters were making lots of noise about it, and one and all claimed Clearfield county for "Battling Bob."

So much for "straw votes." Any fellow who tells you or who believes "La-Follet" is going to carry Clearfield county is due for a sad awakening along about November 5th. Mark the prediction.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Houtt, of Osceola and Mrs. Frank Murphy and daughter of Greensburg motored here Sunday and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Brantner.

Mrs. L. A. Banta, who returned last Thursday from a six months tour of Europe, was removed to the Clearfield hospital yesterday, where she is being treated for typhoid fever.

Clearfield County To Dedicate New Home of American Legion Here Wednesday, Oct. 29th

On October 29th the John Lewis Shade Post of the American Legion with headquarters at Clearfield, will dedicate their new $35,000 home as a memorial to soldiers and sailors of all wars. This post is perhaps the most active post in the entire state, having a membership of over 800 and standing fourth in the state in point of numbers. Its past commander, J. Mitchell Chase, under whose leadership the post reached its present development, is now the state commander of the Legion in Pennsylvania.

The county has long needed a memorial of this kind, and the John Lewis Shade post is to be heartily commended in supplying this need.

The dedication ceremonies will commence at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and there will be speeches by men prominent in Legion affairs, and high officials of the United States army, who will be guests of the Legion on that day. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Legion will hold open house and a reception in honor of their guests, to which all citizens of the county are invited. It is hoped that everyone who can will attend the only dedication ceremonies in the afternoon, but also the reception in the evening, where they may meet the honored guests of the Legion and inspect the beautiful new home which the Legion has dedicated as a county memorial to soldiers and sailors of all wars.

BRIDE IS KILLED ON AN AUTOMOBILE HONEYMOON TOUR

Punkatunney, Oct. 21.—Married only five days and on her wedding journey Mrs. L. D. Correy of Olean, N. Y., nee Ella Seeley, of Reynoldsville, Pa., received injuries in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon from which she died this morning at 3:15 o'clock in a hospital at Dunkirk, N. Y.

Further details of the death of Mrs. Ella Seeley Correy given by Mr. Correy, places the blame for the accident in which she was killed, upon the driver of a large car which plunged directly into them on the road between Buffalo and Dunkirk, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Correy were in a sedan driving toward Erie, according to his statement, enroute to Connecticut, where a reception was to be held for them at the home of his sister, Mrs. Z. M. North. Near Dunkirk they saw a large car coming toward them at a furious rate of speed and occupying the center of the road. Mr. Correy pulled his car to one side to allow the machine to pass, but it struck them fairly, knocking the chassis from under their car. The body of the car carried forward against the big machine, which had upset, and careened against it. Mrs. Correy's head was forced through the door of the car and was caught between the body of the large and small car, causing a fracture of the frontal bone. Neither Mr. Correy nor the occupants of the other machine, whose names he did not learn, were injured. He gave all his attention to his wife and had her taken to the Dunkirk hospital, where she died in a few hours. She did not lose consciousness. The occupants of the big car were arrested and are being held in Dunkirk.

BOLIVER BANK IS A BANDIT VICTIM AT EARLY HOUR TODAY

Two Men Concealed In
Bank Lock Cashier In
Vault, Assault Bank
President and Escape.

GOT ABOUT $4,000

Greensburg, Pa., Oct. 22. (INS).—State police and county authorities are making a wide search of the country between here and Johnstown for the two bandits who held up F. J. Setton, cashier of the Citizens National bank as he opened the bank at Bolivar, Pa., this morning and forced him to open the vault for them at the point of revolvers, escaping with more than $4,000 in cash.

The bandits trusted up Sutton after the robbery and were leaving the bank when they met W. B. Hammond, President of the Institution coming in. Before Hammond had an opportunity to make an outcry he was struck unconscious. The two robbers jumped into their waiting automobile and sped toward New Florence, Pa., state police were immediately notified and detailed to the search.

The bandits were said to have used a Studebaker touring car.

According to J. L. Ruth, one of the bank's directors, the robbers evidently had been hiding under counters of the bank for several hours awaiting the appearance of the cashier.

The front door of the bank which is located on the main street of Bolivar had been forced by the robbers to gain entrance.

More than two hundred men from Bolivar formed into posse soon after the robbery and are scouring the countryside. The bank was closed pending a checkup of its losses, and Ruth said the bandits may have stolen more than $1,000.

According to information given State Police barracks here, the license on the automobile used by the bandits was issued to a Montgomery county man.

One of the robbers was described as short and heavy wearing eye glasses and wearing a short khaki colored overcoat.

The other robber also wore a khaki colored overcoat and had a narrow pockmarked face.

Johnstown, Pa.—Policemen have started from the city armed with a machine gun to search for the robbers. The robbers rushed through New Florence soon after the Bolivar robbery, giving rise to a false report that the First National bank at New Florence had been robbed by the same pair.

After passing through New Florence, the desperadoes' car was seen going toward Wehrum, Indiana county.

MORNING FIRE THREATENED ENTIRE TOWN OF BLAWKNOX

Tarentum, Pa., Oct. 22. (INS).—Fire which for a time threatened the entire town of Blawnox on the Allegheny river near here, was under control this morning after causing damage of more than $99,000. One fireman was slightly injured fighting the blaze which started in a small store. Firemen from Pittsburgh, Oakmont, Aspinwall, New Kensington, Parnassus, and Springdale assisted in quelling the flames.

Four buildings were completely destroyed and the post office and two other buildings damaged by the fire.

ELECTION DUTY AND JURY DUTY

Surprising apathy about election duties, among otherwise good citizens, is shown in a letter from an Ohio girl to a newspaper. She belongs to a Sunday school class with 100 young women in it, and an Epworth League with a membership of over 200. All of these, she says, are of voting age and "the finest kind of folks". Yet when they were asked recently how many intended to register and vote, not one hand was raised.

Her sister attends a large business college. When there was a straw vote there the other night, not one person reported an intention to vote on election day. The writer explains:

"In all cases of my Sunday school class, Epworth League and others with whom I have talked, the same reason is given: We do not want to serve on the jury. I have a large acquaintance and I am telling you the truth when I tell you I do not know one soul that is going to vote.

"I have to earn a living and have heavy home responsibilities, and cannot afford to take a chance of being called to jury service. If girls go to jury service they have two weeks' work piled up when they get back; if men go they lose their pay and maybe their job.

"The working class cannot afford to vote.

"I would vote if I knew I would be exempt from jury service. My brother would vote, but he is paid by the hour and all the rest of the men in his place are paid that way. My father is a salaried man, but his work would pile up sky high if he had to spend two weeks in jury service."

Here is a remarkable and shameful situation. It must be worse than usual in the community referred to, but it exists to some degree everywhere. There is an almost universal effort to dodge jury duty. That is bad; but the evil is doubled when it is combined with the shirking of election duty.

In some places this attitude is met by picking jurors from citizens' lists without regard to registration for voting. That robs non-voters of this excuse.

Intelligent citizens are needed on juries more, if possible, than at the polls. Something will have to be done about that, if the jury system is not to break down. Jurors' pay might be raised. Employers might be penalized for failing to co-operate with employees called for jury work. Or it might be that we shall have to develop professional juries.

In the meantime, all that can be done is to labor with indifferent or timorous citizens to take a little flier in patriotism on November 4th, and hope for the best.

POLITICS AND PROSPERITY

The Cleveland Trust Company, one of the biggest banking institutions of the Middle West, has been making a study of politics and prosperity in their relations to each other. It submits its findings in a dispassionate way in its Business Bulletin for October, not for political purposes, but as interesting and reassuring information to business men.

"Republican administrations," it says, "have been at the head of the national government during 24 years of the past 40 years, while Democratic administrations have controlled national policies during the other 16 years. Through this long period, general business has moved from depression to prosperity and back again many times.

Statistical studies of the period show that in the 24 years of the Republican administration 55 per cent of the months have been months of business prosperity, and 45 per cent months of depression. The records for the 16 years of Democratic administration show 55 per cent of prosperous months and 45 per cent of months of depression. There is not a half of 1 per cent of difference between the two records."

On the basis of this statement, at least, it is hard for either party to argue, in any campaign, that the chief issue is prosperity. Fundamental differences are evidently to be sought along other lines.

Farmers of Nation Had No Part in Organization

against the McNary-Haugen bill, and led the fight against the bill being passed.

The bill was defeated in the House by a vote of 224 to 154, a majority of 70 against it. Of the 224 votes against it, the Republicans contributed 123, the Democrats and the La Follette crowd contributed 123, and Victor Berger, the socialist, supporter of La Follette, contributed one vote against it. The eleven states of the solid Democratic South and the La Follette state of Wisconsin furnished 87 votes against the bill.

The La Follette organization, combined with the Democrats, controlled the last session of Congress in both branches. In the House, the La Follette crowd formed a coalition with the Democrats and prevented the organization of the House until they had forced the regular Republican organization to agree to certain amendments of the House rules which they said was necessary in order to obtain legislation in behalf of the farming interests. Yet the record shows that after they obtained the amendments to the rules which enabled them to force from a committee any bill which they wished considered, they did not so much as attempt to force from any committee any bill for the relief of agriculture.

In the Senate, the La Follette organization joined hands with the Democrats to prevent the Senate organization which they had secured control of the Interstate Commerce committee. Their ability to control this committee and elect a Democratic chairman of it was prima facie proof of their control of the Senate. Yet at no time during the last session of Congress did Senator La Follette introduce any measures in behalf of agriculture or attempt to have any passed.

La Follette Stands Silent.

During the last three years more legislation in behalf of the farmer has been enacted by the Congress than in any 25 years in the history of the country, yet the record shows that none of the agricultural bills introduced in the Senate originated with La Follette. Not one of the laws enacted because of his support. The record further shows that not one of the farm measures introduced in the House during this period originated with any La Follette lieutenant. Not one of them became a law because of the support of the La Follette lieutenants.

Neither La Follette nor any of his lieutenants originated the packers act, or the grain futures act, or the cooperative marketing act, which legalized cooperative associations; or the extension of the warehousing act, or the rural credits act, or the revival of the War Finance corporation act, or the amendment of the federal reserve act to give agriculture representation, or the amendment of the farm loan act to make that financial arm of the government more beneficial to the farming classes. All farm legislation originated with Republicans who are now supporting Coolidge and the regular Republican ticket. All farm measures became a law because the Republican party as a whole got back of them. Senator La Follette is now trying to disrupt and defeat the party which sponsored, enacted and put into full force and operation all of this legislation.

The only consideration which the farmer got at the hands of the La Follette Cleveland convention was two paragraphs in the platform—one pledging laws to guarantee to farmers the right to organize and bargain collectively; the other, the creation of a government marketing corporation to assure farmers fair prices for their products and consumers cheap prices for the same products.

The first promise is meaningless, for the 67th Congress, overwhelmingly Republican in both branches, enacted a law which legalized any association of farmers organized to bargain collectively, either for the purpose of selling their products or buying commodities. The same Congress inserted a provision in the appropriation bill for the Department of Justice which provided that no part of the money appropriated should be expended in the prosecution of any farm organization engaged in such collective bargaining. Could legal protection go further? To cap the climax, the same Republican Congress enacted the intermediate bank credits law, commonly known as the c. l. 15. The Democrats and the La Follette crowd contributed 123, and Victor Berger, the socialist, supporter of La Follette, contributed one vote against it. The eleven states of the solid Democratic South and the La Follette state of Wisconsin furnished 87 votes against the bill.

The other pledge the La Follette platform makes the farmer is a snake in the grass. It promises a government controlled corporation ostensibly for the purpose of fixing fair prices for farm products. If this were the real purpose of the La Follette party, why did not he and his lieutenants support the McNary-Haugen bill?

The crowd which wrote that platform has nothing at all in common with the farmer. It is the crowd which composed the Cleveland convention, packed its committees on platform, nomination, credentials, organization, etc., and has denied the farmer any part in the management of the La Follette campaign.

It is the crowd which helped defeat the McNary-Haugen bill. It is the crowd which has consistently fought all efforts on the part of the farmer for legislation looking to the increase of farm prices.

It is the crowd which during the last session of Congress supported a proposition to fix the price of wheat, but successfully defeated the proposition to fix the price of anything. If this crowd gets control of the government and sets up a socialistic governmental piece of machinery to control marketing of farm products it will fix the price as low as possible in order to furnish itself with food as cheaply as possible.

It is the same crowd which has succeeded in getting La Follette and his lieutenants committed to the advocacy of electing a president and vice president by direct vote of the people—a policy which, if put into effect, would enable the large industrial centers to control the election and would, to all intents and purposes, give the agricultural states no voice whatever.

The hostility of the La Follette organization to the farmer is conclusively shown by the weekly publication known as Labor. This publication is owned, managed and edited wholly and exclusively by those who are officially connected with the La Follette party and have official part in the management of his campaign. Labor is the official organ of the La Follette-Wheeler party. It so states. The committee in charge of the La Follette campaign so states. Special editions of this publication are being circulated by the La Follette campaign committee.

On May 24 this publication issued a list of congressmen against whose re-nomination or election it urged its readers to vote. On this list was practically every Republican congressman of the Mississippi valley who had voted for the agricultural measures desired by the farmer. Among some of the outstanding Republican congressmen who were listed for opposition and defeat by this La Follette party publication are:

Representative Dickinson, of Iowa, who organized the farm bloc in the House. Representative Haugen, of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and one of the authors of the McNary-Haugen bill. Representative Tinscher, of Kansas, one of the authors of the Capper-Tinscher bill to regulate grain exchanges. Representative Burton, of North Dakota, one of the authors of the Norbeck-Burton bill. Representative Ketcham, of Michigan, a ditto farmer and former president of the Michigan State Grange. Every Republican congressman in the state of Idaho and of Colorado.

All of these Republican congressmen listed by the official organ of the La Follette party for defeat have, in the past four years, worked for and voted for every measure asked by farming organizations and farm communities. It has been due to them that all farm legislation has been enacted. The hypocrisy of the La Follette party in pretending to be a friend of the farmer is clearly in evidence by this record.

GRAIN OPENINGS

Chicago, Oct. 22 (INS).—Grains were higher at the opening today.

Wheat started 5-8 to 1 3-8 cents higher with fairly general buying and more liberal offerings as the market advanced. Trade was active.

Corn started unchanged to 3-8 cents higher but met with scattering selling and reacted.

Oats started 1-8 to 1-4 cents higher with small mixed trade and offerings limited until after corn turned weak. Provisions started lower reflecting the weakness in hogs and corn.

Broods Over Poor Mark At School; 15 Year Old Girl Drowns Self In Surf

New York, Oct. 22 (INS.)—Brooding over poor marks at school Vera Zickman, 15, waded into the surf off Coney Island today until the waters closed over her head.

A few hours earlier the girl had attempted to commit suicide by swallowing iodine, but was revived.

A woman saw the girl disappear into the surf and told police.

GIVES FELLOW LIFT IN CAR AND IS NOW SUED FOR DAMAGES

Hereafter, when John McElwain, of South Fork, Pa., decides to give a stranger a lift in his car he is going to not only consult the guest about his driving but have the transient traveler also sign a release of all damage that might ensue incident to the trip.

On March 2nd last McElwain was in a Phillipsburg garage getting ready to drive to his home at South Fork. There he met Louis J. Whitmarsh, of Pittsburgh, and as Whitmarsh desired to go to Johnstown McElwain invited him to get in his car and go along. The invitation was accepted and a start made. Near the overhead bridge west of Tyrone the car left the road and ran against a telephone pole. Whitmarsh was injured in the wreck and on Monday last entered suit against McElwain in the Blair county courts in which damages to the extent of $15,000 is asked, alleging that McElwain drove his car at a high and dangerous rate of speed from the time the automobile left Phillipsburg until the smashup near Tyrone. The plaintiff represents that he sustained an injury to his back, severe lacerations of the face and body and has been rendered unable to assume his employment as sales manager for a Pittsburgh firm.

THIS IS A QUEER COUNTRY

This is a queer country of ours, and the unexpected and out of the ordinary is always happening or turning up. Snow flakes were in the air several times yesterday, but regardless of that fact Harvey Shearer, who drives one of the Graham Lumber yards trucks, found a snake about ten inches long slowly ambling about the lumber yard hunting a place to get his toes warm. We don't believe all the snake stories we print from time to time but we believe this one alright, because Harvey presented us with the reptile.

Add Amazing Endurance to Unequaled Results

The success of the Chrysler Six, which has made it literally the talk of the country, is well founded.

It is not due to some single engineering innovation of a spectacular nature. It is a success that involves every phase of performance and ownership.

It is based on such fundamentals as power production and application, weight distribution, space engineering and the essentials of economy.

It is a success that has completely changed prevailing ideas of automotive design deemed essential for finer motoring. It has swept into the discard the cumbersome and the wasteful.

To cap the climax come such records as the recent performance at Fresno, Calif., when a stock model covered 1,000 continuous miles in 1007 minutes, 54 seconds. To unprecedented results is now added positive proof of amazing stamina and dogged endurance.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Dealer everywhere.

PENN STATE READY TO ENTERTAIN 20,000 SATURDAY

State College, Pa., Oct. 22.—In preparation for the return of over 3000 graduates and former students for Alumni Homecoming Day next Saturday, eleven hundred freshmen brightened up the campus last Saturday afternoon. It was the annual "clean-up day" custom revived after a lapse of three years. Under the direction of upperclass captains the freshmen raked leaves, trimmed trees, cleaned underbrush from campus woods and even laid sod. The campus today was looking its best and the fall coloring of trees makes is a Central Pennsylvania beauty spot.

The homecoming next Saturday will be the fifth annual affair of its kind for the alumni. With the football game against Syracuse as the major attraction, former students from far and near have notified the alumni association here of their coming. The college keys will be turned over to alumni and their big day will be a constant round of entertainment, closing with an old time Penn State cider and pretzel feed and smoker in the college armory. Some agreeable surprises are promised alumni for the week end, starting with the football mass meeting on Friday evening.

STORE OPEN EVENINGS DURING DEMONSTRATION

For the accommodation of those who cannot come in during the day, Mr. Haskell and Mr. Hall will be at the store from 7 to 9 o'clock each evening to explain the new features of the GREAT MAJESTIC, and to receive your order. However, we will not have a sales force for the sale of other merchandise during these hours.

Special Demonstration Fri. Afternoon, October 23rd, at 4 o'clock GREAT MAJESTIC WALKING CAKE

This cake is 7 inches high and 13 inches square. It will be placed between two heavy boards and 15 ladies are invited to stand on it at one time, completely crushing it. Like the old saying, "Crushed to earth—will rise again," it comes immediately back to its former height and is served to those present. The airtight oven in the Majestic retains the moisture, which is again absorbed by the cake, being the reason why it rises to its former size.

Fifteen ladies will stand on this monster cake and afterwards the cake will be cut and served to those present. This cake will be baked in the Majestic Range at our demonstration, and is another proof of the wonderful baking which can easily be done with the Great Majestic Range because of the airtight asbestos-lined oven and the cast-iron-lined firebox. We bake and cook in the Majestic Range all week with a paper stovepipe, which proves that the heat is kept in the oven instead of being driven up the chimney.

FREE TO THE LADIES

Sign this Coupon and bring it in to our store personally during our Majestic Sales Week, October 20th to 26th and you will receive a useful Souvenir.

Round One for the Defense

BY TAYLOR

CURWENSVILLE HIGH AGAIN DEFEATED

Ridgway team wins by a 14 to 0 score.

Saturday the Curwensville team journeyed over the hills in one of Edwards' buses and met the strong Ridgway team on their own field. In the most interesting game of the year the Ridgway team by clean, hard football and taking advantage of the breaks managed to carry the ball over for two touchdowns. For the first time this year the Curwensville team had a return of their old fighting spirit, making the final outcome doubtful until the last minute of play. Curwensville as usual had their overabundance of fumbles, these proving very costly and resulting in the loss of all chances to score. The Curwensville team was accompanied by about fifty people who desired to see their team overcome the old jinx and win a game on foreign territory.

The first quarter and the opening plays of the second saw Ridgway gain a touchdown by a march down the field on straight football. After this, however, the tide of the game turned and from then on the Curwensville team had the advantage for the remainder of the game with the exception of one run from an intercepted pass. Curwensville made a total of twelve first-downs to Ridgway's eight. Brunetti was easily the outstanding figure of the entire game with Young, of Ridgway, showing up the best for the opposing team. The Curwensville line from end to end

LITTLE GIRL INJURED

Word has been received by Clearfield friends that Margaret Wright, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright, Jr., fell from a porch onto a cement walk, a distance of 17 feet, and was badly hurt. One leg was broken, both arms badly bruised and her front teeth knocked out. She is now in the hospital in Philadelphia.

are to be congratulated on their play but the backfield was rather weak due to the loss of Maury who had been running the team, during the past two weeks.

Simple Rule to Remember.
When should "fewer" be used, and when should "less"? Is it correct, for example, to say "I have no less than 100 bushels"? The rule to avoid this common mistake is to remember that fewer is used when referring to numbers—as in the above example—and less when referring to quantity.

This Heating System,
Conceded to Be the Most Durable,
Economical, Cleanly, and Desirable
Is Fully Guaranteed

With a responsibility of more than three million dollars, The Beckwith Company—Round Oak Folks—pledge to you twenty, thirty or more years of supreme service, satisfaction, and economy. The advantages in construction must really be seen to be appreciated. It is the one heating system on the market so constructed as to avoid inconvenience, regret, and unnecessary expense in the after years.

ROUND OAK PIPELESS HEATING SYSTEM

What Does the Other Fellow Say?

When you have a Round Oak Pipeless Heating System in your home; there are no more chilly corners and rooms but all is cozy and snug. The temperature of the cellar is not changed; vegetables keep beautifully in our open cellar. We find it very convenient to start a little wood fire to take the chill from the whole house. We heated six rooms with four tons of coal last winter. From consumer letter.

We have ten good sized rooms in the house, nine foot ceilings, and I would not trade my Round Oak Pipeless Heating System for a hot water or steam system if you would put it in for nothing. What surprises me most is that the temperature does not vary more than 2 degrees in any room downstairs and not more than 5 degrees upstairs. I used less than five tons of coke last winter. From consumer letter.

The reasons why are patented. It has several distinct advantages that will justify, and, we say without hesitation, compliment your investigation. We guarantee the service and satisfaction rendered.

Sunshine Air-Tight Heaters Will Heat Your Home Right

We are getting a lot of praise about these Sunshine Air-Tight Heaters. They're a double heater and are so made that every possible atom of heat is gotten out of the fuel you use.

And there's a finish to these heaters that does away with the old idea of having to blacken the heater. We have them in Blue, Black, Brown, Green and Gray. The nickel work is so done that it will stay bright and also relieve the housewife of that odious work.

Why Keep On Paying This Tax?

Everybody expects to pay some tax but why impose unnecessary taxes on yourself?

Do you realize that every time you drive your car on an unpaved highway you are actually taxing yourself one to four cents a mile?

This is the cost of increased repair, tire and gasoline bills.

Highway research has definitely established these facts.

Each year you tax yourself in this way a good many dollars.

Instead of spending this money for increased transportation costs, why not invest it in Concrete Highways and pay yourself some dividends?

Concrete Roads and Streets pay for themselves in the saving they effect on the cost of motoring.

Their maintenance cost is so low that this saving alone returns good dividends on the investment, year after year.

You are imposing an unnecessary tax on yourself from which you get no return, by failing to work for more Concrete Highways.

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support.

Tell them you are ready to invest in more Concrete Highways, now.

DAWES THROWS OUT BOLD CHALLENGE AT PITTSBURG

Tells His Hearers They
Must Choose Between
Sinking Sands of Reds
and Rock of Loyalty.

URGES A BIG VOTE

By ALBERT BAENZIGER

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 22.—At an enthusiastic meeting in the Harris theatre, Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential candidate reiterated his challenge to those advocating changes in the constitution declaring that the fate of the nation depended on whether or not the citizens go to the polls this November.

"The Socialists led by La Follette could have us throw overboard from the ship of state the compass which has steered us for the last 125 years," Dawes said.

"What other issue can there be in the face of this attack on the constitution? What would become of wages, price of farm products—what would become of anything?"

The candidate discussed conditions in Russia, and declared that people there would have to once more build up from the bottom their "bill of rights."

"Where do you stand?" Dawes demanded, "on the sinking sands of radicalism holding the red flag or on the rocks of the constitution?"

Thousands of workers from the downtown district watched the parade for the General through the downtown district and the streets before the theatre were packed with those unable to gain admittance.

General Dawes party will leave here at 2:15 this afternoon, stopping at Washington, Pa., at 3:30 for a brief platform speech.

DEATH TOLL IN THE CRUISER TRENTON EXPLOSION MOUNTS

12 Now Dead and One
More May Die In What
Naval Men Say Is the
First Kind of Blast.

A FRICTION SPARK

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 22. (INS).—The death toll in the explosion of firing powder aboard the U. S. Cruiser Trenton mounted higher today. Four more deaths at the naval hospital at Portsmouth this morning brought the total deaths to 12. There is a probability it will be 13 before nightfall, as physicians said John Uzzolino of Newark, N. J., suffered internal burns which may cause death.

Those who died this morning were Arthur J. McCormick, Charlestown, Mass., and Franklin B. Jeffrey, of Lynn, Mass.; George D. Luker, of Newark, N. Y., and George J. Caffney of New York City.

The explosion in the forward turret of the Trenton is said to have been the first of its kind in the American navy. There have been other explosions, naval officers say, but in every instance the cause of it was traceable to sparks from gun breeches, back fire or flashes from electric wires.

But the gun on the Trenton had not been fired and it is the theory of naval men that in hoisting the charge preparatory to firing the ten-inch rifle, metal on the apparatus caused friction that set off the powder charge.

A total of 50 pounds of powder exploded. The cruiser is not seriously damaged, it is said, the exploding loose powder being less destructive and more in the nature of a fire than would have been an explosion of shells.

Under orders of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, three ordnance experts from Washington will arrive here today or tomorrow to assist in the investigation about the Trenton to ascertain the cause of the explosion.

Officers from the scouting fleet will compose the board of inquiry and will be selected by Rear Admiral McCully's commander. The investigation is expected to begin tomorrow.

One officer, Lieut. John A. Sedgwick, of Winthrop, Mass., and 11 men are under treatment at the naval hospital. Most of them will be discharged within a week, it was announced.

Lieut. Sedgwick was one of the outstanding heroes of the disaster. Blown overboard into a rough sea by the force of the explosion, he saved the lives of two men struggling in the water. A life belt thrown to him from the cruiser, he refused to don, and instead placed it around one of the men stunned by the force of the blast. Sedgwick is burned about the face and head and sustained a sprained wrist.

Ghizzoni, 23, Thomas 1; Territory 7, Ghizzoni 5, Thomas 1; Territory 8, Ghizzoni 23, Thomas 6; Territory 9, Ghizzoni 2, Thomas 1. Total Ghizzoni 110, Thomas 35.

H. E. Carletti carried 13 locals in Territory No. 5 and Jurchak carried three locals and Eli Potts, 1. A protest has been filed against the vote cast at the small Adrian local which if substantiated will take Jurchak off the ticket, leaving Carletti without opposition at the general election the second Tuesday in December.

Two Butler Babies Suffocate In Fire; Mother In Basement

Butler, Pa., Oct. 22 (INS).—Two children of Patrick Mahoney, Louis, aged three and Leona, aged one, were suffocated to death today when their home was damaged by fire. The children were sleeping in a third story room in which there was an open stove, the mother and an older daughter having gone to the basement.

When the mother discovered the fire she was seriously burned trying to save the children and is in the Butler hospital.

Another child of the family was burned to death five years ago.

MOSHANNON COAL MINING INSTITUTE MEETS TOMORROW

The Moshannon Coal Mining Institute will hold its regular semi-annual meeting in the convention hall of the Hotel Phillips, Phillipsburg, Pennsylvania at 6:30 p. m. sharp on October 23, 1924.

The committee in charge of the meeting has made arrangements for furnishing a very good baked ham dinner and has secured some very good speakers to make addresses, among whom are Mr. H. I. Smith, chief of mining supervisor of the Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Rush M. Hosler, superintendent of Pennsylvania Rating Bureau, Harrisburg, and Mr. Francis Feehan, mine safety commissioner, United States Bureau of Mines, Pittsburgh.

In addition to these several other men prominent in the mining industry will be on hand and will give short informal talks upon subjects of interest to the men in attendance.

The Moshannon Coal Mining Institute has been organized among the mining men of this district for the past several years and has a membership of 132. It is conducted solely in the interest of the mining industry as a whole but furnishes a common ground on which members in this immediate district can meet, become acquainted and discuss problems which are common to this district. It is the desire of the officers and the executive committee as well as the members in order to be of the greatest service to the industry that as many persons as are interested in coal mining or its affiliated branches should be in attendance and partake in the discussions at this meeting. A nominal charge will be made for the dinner that is served but the discussions will be open to anybody in attendance and an invitation is extended to all interested parties to attend this meeting.

Davis Concentrates On New York State; Al And John Are Hard Pressed

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 22.—John W. Davis today completed battle plans for staging the supreme effort of his presidential campaign on a drive to carry New York City.

Davis who came here for a final sortie into Indiana, approved a program by which he will devote the last week of his campaign to a whirlwind tour of New York's five boroughs, beginning next Saturday, the drive will last until the eve of election.

In order to give more time to the New York cause, Davis cancelled a proposed trip to New England. His board of strategy, it was said, advised against his appearance in Boston because of local factional differences and advocated additional dates in the metropolis. The nomination also shortened his western drive to favor New York City. This plan of action was decided upon as the result of the earnest request of George Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, who told the nominee a personal drive there to close the campaign would swing New York into the Democratic column. On the result of this venture, it was plainly indicated, rested the nominees' hopes for success on Nov. 4.

Davis feels he may win the Presidency without New York's 45 electoral votes, it was said he is absolutely confident of success if he carries the entire state. The candidate came here this morning from Louisville to fill an afternoon speaking engagement. He was scheduled to close his Indiana campaign tonight with an address in Evansville. He will leave then for Ohio to speak Thursday night at Cleveland while eastward bound for New York where he arrives late Friday.

The New York city drive will begin Saturday with a woman's meeting at the Hotel Commodore, to be followed by meetings that night on Staten Island and in the Bronx. On Monday, Oct. 27, Davis will make two speeches in New Jersey and the remainder of the week in New York City. His campaign will close Saturday, November 1, with a night address in Carnegie hall.

Davis injected a new note into his campaign at Louisville by charging the Republican party with rising a "slush fund" to win the election. He virtually charged the Republicans

JUST TO KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT FARMERS OF THE NATION HAD NO PART IN ORGANIZATION OF THE LA FOLLETTE PARTY OR IN MAKING HIM A CANDIDATE

How Can La Follette
Hope to Be Favored In
West When His Record
Is Against Him?

NO FARMER FRIEND

There were few, if any, farmers among those who composed the La Follette convention at Cleveland. The convention itself was called by a group of organizations in which there was no bona fide farm organization, the so-called delegates to their seats lette Cleveland convention were hand picked from a group of organizations in which there was no bona fide farm organization. The committee on credentials, which passed on the right of the so-called delegates to their seats, did not contain a farmer or anyone representing agriculture.

No farmer or representative either of a farming community or a bona fide farm organization was permitted to be an officer at the La Follette Cleveland convention.

No farmer or representative either of a farming community or a bona fide farm organization was on any of the standing committees of the La Follette Cleveland convention.

No farmer or representative of a farm community had anything to do with the writing of the platform of the Cleveland convention. No farmer or representative of a farm community was a member of the committee which presented La Follette's name to the convention as its candidate.

No farmer or representative either of a farming community or a bona fide farm organization was on the committee appointed to notify La Follette of his selection.

Farmer Ignored Entirely. Senator La Follette's letter of acceptance was addressed to a group of organizations in which there is no farm organization, a group in which the farming communities and agricultural sections of the United States have no voice or representation.

No farmer or representative of any bona fide farm organization is a member of the national committee of the La Follette party. No farmer or representative of any bona fide farm organization is a member of the La Follette campaign committee.

Throughout the La Follette movement, from its inception to the present time, the farmer has been absolutely ignored in the selection of delegates, the formulation of policies, and the direction of the campaign. The only purpose he serves in the La Follette scheme is to furnish the votes.

On the other hand, and in striking contrast to the treatment accorded the farmers, the La Follette party leaders, many of them socialists, have not a single opportunity to recognize the national Socialist party and other radical organizations whose interests are diametrically opposed to the interests of agriculture. The La Follette party even went so far as to give the national Socialist party's official organization special representation on the La Follette national committee, adding to that committee official representatives of the Socialist party in a number equal to ten per cent of the total membership of the committee. This was in addition to the Socialists who were already members of the committee.

Farm Bills in Congress. Only two major agricultural measures were before the last session of the Congress for consideration—the Norbeck-Burness bill and the McNary-Haugen bill. The Norbeck-Burness bill was considered in the Senate. There were several test votes taken before the bill itself was voted upon. The roll call record shows that Senator La Follette did not vote at all upon any of the test votes in connection with the Norbeck-Burness bill and did not vote on the bill itself.

The McNary-Haugen bill was considered in the House. The minority report against the bill was written by Representative Voigt, a La-Follette lieutenant from Wisconsin, who, presented the report to the House, made the strongest speech that was made

By ALBERT BAENZIGER

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Enroute With General Dawes in Pennsylvania, Oct. 22.—Gen. Charles G. Dawes, vice presidential candidate, as enroute to Pittsburgh today from Philadelphia, where he spoke last night. He will speak on the constitution at noon today in the Harris theatre in Pittsburgh.

Later he will deliver an address in Washington, Pa., before crossing into West Virginia, where tonight in Wheeling he will deliver his first speech in that state.

Dawes' friends said today that his Philadelphia speech was "the greatest oratorical effort he has made thus far in the campaign." He went into details of the budget and surprised the audience by asserting that the law creating it was only an incident in its accomplishment and that the whole plan could have been put into effect without the budget law.

He said the reason that was not done before President Harding created him director of the budget was because former presidents had not taken a position as head of a routine business organization.

Dawes warned against experimentation in a change of administration in these words:

"This government is safe in its present system of doing business, just as long as the President of the United States keeps his position as head of the routine business organization."

"If you go making any rash experiments and changing the President when you have a good President in a close President who watches the nickles—well, you look out."

SPEAKING OF STRAW VOTES

A "count of noses" was taken by a "loud-mouthed politician" in the smoking car on the morning B. & O. passenger train from DuBois this morning and of the seventeen men aboard one was for Coolidge, one for Davis while the other fifteen expressed themselves as favoring La Follette. As was to be expected the La-Follette supporters were making lots of noise about it, and one and all claimed Clearfield county for "Battling Bob."

So much for "straw votes." Any fellow who tells you or who believes "La-Follet" is going to carry Clearfield county is due for a sad awakening along about November 5th. Mark the prediction.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Houtt, of Osceola and Mrs. Frank Murphy and daughter of Greensburg motored here Sunday and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Brantner.

Mrs. L. A. Banta, who returned last Thursday from a six months tour of Europe, was removed to the Clearfield hospital yesterday, where she is being treated for typhoid fever.

Clearfield County To Dedicate New Home of American Legion Here Wednesday, Oct. 29th

On October 29th the John Lewis Shade Post of the American Legion with headquarters at Clearfield, will dedicate their new $35,000 home as a memorial to soldiers and sailors of all wars. This post is perhaps the most active post in the entire state, having a membership of over 800 and standing fourth in the state in point of numbers. Its past commander, J. Mitchell Chase, under whose leadership the post reached its present development, is now the state commander of the Legion in Pennsylvania.

The county has long needed a memorial of this kind, and the John Lewis Shade post is to be heartily commended in supplying this need.

The dedication ceremonies will commence at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and there will be speeches by men prominent in Legion affairs, and high officials of the United States army, who will be guests of the Legion on that day. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Legion will hold open house and a reception in honor of their guests, to which all citizens of the county are invited. It is hoped that everyone who can will attend the only dedication ceremonies in the afternoon, but also the reception in the evening, where they may meet the honored guests of the Legion and inspect the beautiful new home which the Legion has dedicated as a county memorial to soldiers and sailors of all wars.

BRIDE IS KILLED
ON AN AUTOMOBILE
HONEYMOON TOUR

Punkatunney, Oct. 21.—Married only five days and on her wedding journey Mrs. L. D. Correy of Olean, N. Y., nee Ella Seeley, of Reynoldsville, Pa., received injuries in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon from which she died this morning at 3:15 o'clock in a hospital at Dunkirk, N. Y.

Further details of the death of Mrs. Ella Seeley Correy given by Mr. Correy, places the blame for the accident in which she was killed, upon the driver of a large car which plunged directly into them on the road between Buffalo and Dunkirk, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Correy were in a sedan driving toward Erie, according to his statement, enroute to Connecticut, where a reception was to be held for them at the home of his sister, Mrs. Z. M. North. Near Dunkirk they saw a large car coming toward them at a furious rate of speed and occupying the center of the road.

Mr. Correy pulled his car to one side to allow the machine to pass, but it struck them fairly, knocking the chassis from under their car. The body of the car carried forward against the big machine, which had upset, and careened against it. Mrs. Correy's head was forced through the door of the car and was caught between the body of the large and small car, causing a fracture of the frontal bone. Neither Mr. Correy nor the occupants of the other machine, whose names he did not learn, were injured. He gave all his attention to his wife and had her taken to the Dunkirk hospital, where she died in a few hours. She did not lose consciousness. The occupants of the big car were arrested and are being held in Dunkirk.

MUST CUT OUT TOMFOOLERY

Reports from several sections of town is to the effect that certain gangs of boys, paying no attention to the recent published statement regarding premature hallowe'en ripping and tearing, are raiding gardens and annoying people by throwing cabbage, tomatoes and other rubbish and dirt on porches over in the Weaver street section. This is a violation of the Borough Ordinances and each offender will be arrested and fined or imprisoned.

The police have been notified to arrest all such offenders and examples will be made of them. Reasonable fun and hilarity will be allowed on the nights of October 30th and 31st, but no hallowe'en tricks will be tolerated before or after those nights.

Parents, please notify your children or fines will follow.

BOLIVER BANK IS A BANDIT VICTIM AT EARLY HOUR TODAY

Two Men Concealed In
Bank Lock Cashier In
Vault, Assault Bank
President and Escape.

GOT ABOUT $4,000

Greensburg, Pa., Oct. 22 (INS).—

State police and county authorities are making a wide search of the country between here and Johnstown for the two bandits who held up F. J. Setton, cashier of the Citizens National bank as he opened the bank at Bolivar, Pa., this morning and forced him to open the vault for them at the point of revolvers, escaping with more than $4,000 in cash.

The bandits trusted up Sutton after the robbery and were leaving the bank when they met W. B. Hammond, President of the Institution coming in. Before Hammond had an opportunity to make an outcry he was struck unconscious. The two robbers jumped into their waiting automobile and sped toward New Florence, Pa., state police were immediately notified and detailed to the search.

The bandits were said to have used a Studebaker touring car.

According to J. L. Ruth, one of the bank's directors, the robbers evidently had been hiding under counters of the bank for several hours awaiting the appearance of the cashier.

The front door of the bank which is located on the main street of Bolivar had been forced by the robbers to gain entrance.

More than two hundred men from Bolivar formed into posse soon after the robbery and are scouring the countryside. The bank was closed pending a checkup of its losses, and Ruth said the bandits may have stolen more than $1,000.

According to information given State Police barracks here, the license on the automobile used by the bandits was issued to a Montgomery county man.

One of the robbers was described as short and heavy wearing eye glasses and wearing a short khaki colored overcoat.

The other robber also wore a khaki colored raincoat and had a narrow pockmarked face.

Johnstown, Pa.—Policemen have started from the city armed with a machine gun to search for the robbers. The robbers rushed through New Florence soon after the Bolivar robbery, giving rise to a false report that the First National bank at New Florence had been robbed by the same pair.

After passing through New Florence, the desperadoes' car was seen going toward Wehrum, Indiana county.

MORNING FIRE THREATENED
ENTIRE TOWN OF BLAWKNOX

Tarentum, Pa., Oct. 22 (INS).—Fire which for a time threatened the entire town of Blawnox on the Allegheny river near here, was under control this morning after causing damage of more than $99,000. One fireman was slightly injured fighting the blaze which started in a small store. Firemen from Pittsburgh, Oakmont, Aspinwall, New Kensington, Parnassus, and Springdale assisted in quelling the flames.

Four buildings were completely destroyed and the post office and two other buildings damaged by the fire.

From reports received from the hatcheries this should be one of the largest years for the distribution of all species of fish.

OB MORGAN'S FIRST ICICLE
 Morgan's charged generally to being "pretty tight" and chilly, but our personal experience always led us to believe that less truth than poetry in the name. However we were somewhat in our belief yesterday when Morgan, anciently of Bannock, but more recently for a time native of Glen Richey, to town yesterday with the one-half laces off, the porch just under his bedroom window morning.

Dob said it was not only a sure "frozen" but was so well frozen that he took half an hour's exposure to the heat of his living room before it melted. This is certainly the first icicle of the season and the story would be hard to believe did it purport to have been found on the roof of any but a Southman's "house."

 had sold the "taxing power" through the Fordney-McCumber tariff law for which they were now collecting "political contributions."

"What about the letter of the Pennsylvania manufacturer asking for funds to prevent the dreadful calamity of having the existing tariff law removed from the books at a 'time'?" That has been the standing indictment of the Democratic party against the system of prohibitive tariff. It is written by the beneficiaries, that they were nothing more or less than the sale of the taxation privilege to private citizens in return for political contributions.

In his closing drive Davis has been harder day by day at President Coolidge and members of his cabinet. He denounced the President by name for conducting an "Administration of silence" for having a "tin-plate diplomacy" in his foreign policy and for "weakness" in handling the Washington scandals.

He used a broadside too, on Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, whom he linked to the "Aluminum trust" in bitter attacks on the tariff law. When touching on foreign affairs, Davis was extremely critical of Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes. He charged Hughes with breaking faith with the American people by

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The fall forest fire season is here and hunters about to take the field should exercise extraordinary caution at all times against fire. The most prolific source for forest fires, it has been learned by experience, is the cigarette or cigar butt or the match carelessly thrown down by the smoker. Everybody loses when timber burns. Watch your spot while in the woods.

The next indoor sport of the parlor is chess and statement with ideas in no place to apply is the annually recurrent agitation for a Constitutional convention. The present convention under which we operate is half a century old and no doubt could be improved upon in spots, but what a chance could we have that improvement would be made when a constitutional convention assembled at Harrisburg and a lot of our healthiest parlor luncheon near the men out to work on it. Judging by a lot of the uplift and reform legislation we have shouldered over the last few couple of years by the Pennsylvania legislature, we had better be content to take these half-baked emanations in biennial, biennial doses, rather than let the country be down to a wholesale experiment, such as we would be up against in the making of a new Constitution. The old or present Constitution may be bad but it could, and no doubt would be worse, judging by some of the plans to secure representation in a constitutional convention.

Just two weeks 'til election and our claims of politics haven't got 'tired enough to do more than put up at Coolidge and Dawes and Davis and Bryan banners. The political headquarters of all the parties sure detected spots when one takes consideration this is presidential year.

The twin twins run is families like the Joneses. That type is so well known at Fads Creek the other day at the funeral of Mrs. D. W. Jones. The twin boys were three years of twins. They were Alvin and John Jones, cousins of D. W. Jones, aged 22 years; Jess and Dave Jones, aged 22 years; and Earl and Mel Jones, aged 18, nephews of D. W. Jones.

The average expectancy of life at approximately 44 years. Allowance for holidays, vacations, slack time, and size and put in 50,000 hours in a lifetime. A whole lot of people don't do it nowadays, however, but many years before any practical decision of the Dauphin Progress is made.

A DOUBTFUL VICTORY
 With the town of Elmwood, New York, has settled down to its athletic school superintendent, its sixteen frightened teachers and its rubber legs. Peace has followed discussion and its superintendent has won his quarter-victory, as the result of that useful sacrifice of all diplomats, a compromise.

Elmwood children whose parents don't object to a diet of rubber legs, along with reading and writing and arithmetic, will be duly flogged from time to time, while those who prefer book learning unaccompanied by rubber legs, get their share of a most earnest persuasion. And so, apparently, everybody is happy, including the sixteen teachers, who were not afraid to tell the world that they couldn't impart knowledge without using force.

If the teachers and principal of Elmwood feel that they have won a victory, it would be a pity for any one to rob them of this doubtful honor. But it must be an odd, crooked kind of victory, if it does.

BOYS!

We're Giving Away

FREE

Two Genuine

Leather Official

FOOTBALLS

Here's How We Do It

Starting tomorrow morning, we will give a button, with a number on it, to the boys who buy the first hundred pairs of Shoes. Somewhere among this hundred buttons, will be two buttons numbered alike. The two boys who get the numbers alike will each get one GENUINE LEATHER REGULATION SIZE RUGBY FOOTBALL.

Here's how YOU can get the footballs. Every time you see one of your playmates wearing a pair of new shoes, go up to him and ask him if he bought the shoes at Leitzinger's. Ask him to show you his button. And if the number on his button is the same as yours, beat it right down to the store and get your footballs.

Now, you've been teasing Dad and Mother to buy you a football. Here's your chance to get one for nothing.

Here's another suggestion. Wear your button. In this way, your playmates will know that you're looking for the fellow with a number like yours and every fellow helps the other.

Dad and Mother know that the shoes we feature here are GOOD shoes so that if you need a new pair, and persuade Dad to bring you here for them, you not only get good shoes but possibly the football for nothing!

We give out the buttons in this way. When the little sales ticket goes to the cashier, she will return your button. She does not know who gets the buttons. She does not know which two numbers will be alike. But there WILL be TWO numbers given out somewhere among the first hundred pairs of shoes after the store opens tomorrow morning, so be on hand as soon as you can for your new shoes and the button.

ELECTION DUTY AND JURY DUTY

Surprising apathy about election duties, among otherwise good citizens, is shown in a letter from an Ohio girl to a newspaper. She belongs to a Sunday school class with 100 young women in it, and an Epworth League with a membership of over 200. All of these, she says, are of voting age and "the finest kind of folks". Yet when they were asked recently how many intended to register and vote, not one hand was raised.

Her sister attends a large business college. When there was a straw vote there the other night, not one person reported an intention to vote on election day. The writer explains:

"In all cases of my Sunday school class, Epworth League and others with whom I have talked, the same reason is given: We do not want to serve on the jury. I have a large acquaintance and I am telling you the truth when I tell you I do not know one soul that is going to vote.

"I have to earn a living and have heavy home responsibilities, and cannot afford to take a chance of being called to jury service. If girls go to jury service they have two weeks' work piled up when they get back; if men go they lose their pay and maybe their job.

"The working class cannot afford to vote.

"I would vote if I knew I would be exempt from jury service. My brother would vote, but he is paid by the hour and all the rest of the men in his place are paid that way. My father is a salaried man, but his work would pile up sky high if he had to spend two weeks in jury service."

Here is a remarkable and shameful situation. It must be worse than usual in the community referred to, but it exists to some degree everywhere. There is an almost universal effort to dodge jury duty. That is bad; but the evil is doubled when it is combined with the shirking of election duty.

In some places this attitude is met by picking jurors from citizens' lists without regard to registration for voting. That robs non-voters of this excuse.

Intelligent citizens are needed on juries more, if possible, than at the polls. Something will have to be done about that, if the jury system is not to break down. Jurors' pay might be raised. Employers might be penalized for failing to co-operate with employees called for jury work. Or it might be that we shall have to develop professional juries.

In the meantime, all that can be done is to labor with indifferent or timorous citizens to take a little flier in patriotism on November 4th, and hope for the best.

POLITICS AND PROSPERITY

The Cleveland Trust Company, one of the biggest banking institutions of the Middle West, has been making a study of politics and prosperity in their relations to each other. It submits its findings in a dispassionate way in its Business Bulletin for October, not for political purposes, but as interesting and reassuring information to business men.

"Republican administrations," it says, "have been at the head of the national government during 24 years of the past 40 years, while Democratic administrations have controlled national policies during the other 16 years. Through this long period, general business has moved from depression to prosperity and back again many times.

Statistical studies of the period show that in the 24 years of the Republican administration 55 per cent of the months have been months of business prosperity, and 45 per cent months of depression. The records for the 16 years of Democratic administration show 55 per cent of prosperous months and 45 per cent of months of depression. There is not a half of 1 per cent of difference between the two records."

On the basis of this statement, at least, it is hard for either party to argue, in any campaign, that the chief issue is prosperity. Fundamental differences are evidently to be sought along other lines.

Farmers of Nation Had No Part In Organization

against the McNary-Haugen bill, and led the fight against the bill being passed.

The bill was defeated in the House by a vote of 224 to 154, a majority of 76 against it. Of the 224 votes against it, the Republicans contributed 128, and the Democrats and the La Follette crowd contributed 96. Victor Berger, the socialist, supporter of La Follette, contributed one vote against it. The eleven states of the solid Democratic South and the La Follette state of Wisconsin furnished 87 votes against the bill.

The La Follette organization, combined with the Democrats, controlled the last session of Congress in both branches. In the House, the La Follette crowd formed a coalition with the Democrats and prevented the organization of the House until they had forced the regular Republican organization to agree to certain amendments of the House rules which they said was necessary in order to obtain legislation in behalf of the farming interests. Yet the record shows that after they obtained the amendments to the rules which enabled them to force from a committee any bill which they wished considered, they did not so much as attempt to force from any committee any bill for the relief of agriculture.

In the Senate, the La Follette organization joined hands with the Democrats to prevent the Senate organization which they had secured control of the Interstate Commerce committee. Their ability to control this committee and elect a Democratic chairman of it was prima facie proof of their control of the Senate. Yet at no time during the last session of Congress did Senator La Follette introduce any measures in behalf of agriculture or attempt to have any passed.

La Follette Stands Silent.

During the last three years more legislation in behalf of the farmer has been enacted by the Congress than in any 25 years in the history of the country, yet the record shows that none of the agricultural bills introduced in the Senate originated with La Follette. Not one of the laws was enacted because of his support. The record further shows that not one of the farm measures introduced in the House during this period originated with any La Follette lieutenant. Not one of them became a law because of the support of the La Follette lieutenants.

Neither La Follette nor any of his lieutenants originated the packers act, or the grain futures act, or the cooperative marketing act, which legalized cooperative associations; or the extension of the warehousing act, or the rural credits act, or the revival of the War Finance corporation act, or the amendment of the federal reserve act to give agriculture representation, or the amendment of the farm loan act to make that financial arm of the government more beneficial to the farming classes. All farm legislation originated with Republicans who are now supporting Coolidge and the regular Republican ticket. All farm measures became a law because the Republican party as a whole got back of them. Senator La Follette is now trying to disrupt and defeat the party which sponsored, enacted and put into full force and operation all of this legislation.

The only consideration which the farmer got at the hands of the La Follette Cleveland convention was two paragraphs in the platform—one pledging laws to guarantee to farmers the right to organize and bargain collectively; the other, the creation of a government marketing corporation to assure farmers fair prices for their products and consumers cheap prices for the same products.

The first promise is meaningless, for the 67th Congress, overwhelmingly Republican in both branches, enacted a law which legalized any association of farmers organized to bargain collectively, either for the purpose of selling their products or buying commodities. The same Congress inserted a provision in the appropriation bill for the Department of Justice which provided that no part of the money appropriated should be expended in the prosecution of any farm organization engaged in such collective bargaining. Could legal protection go further? To cap the climax, the same Republican Congress enacted the intermediate bank credits law, commonly known as the c. 15. The Democrats and the La Follette crowd contributed 128, and Victor Berger, the socialist, supporter of La Follette, contributed one vote against it. The eleven states of the solid Democratic South and the La Follette state of Wisconsin furnished 87 votes against the bill.

The other pledge the La Follette platform makes the farmer is a snake in the grass. It promises a government controlled corporation ostensibly for the purpose of fixing fair prices for farm products. If this were the real purpose of the La Follette party, why did not he and his lieutenants support the McNary-Haugen bill?

The crowd which wrote that platform has nothing at all in common with the farmer. It is the crowd which composed the Cleveland convention, packed its committees on platform, nomination, credentials, organization, etc., and has denied the farmer any part in the management of the La Follette campaign.

It is the crowd which helped defeat the McNary-Haugen bill. It is the crowd which has consistently fought all efforts on the part of the farmer for legislation looking to the increase of farm prices.

It is the crowd which during the last session of Congress supported a proposition to fix the price of wheat, but successfully defeated the proposition to fix the price of anything. If this crowd gets control of the government and sets up a socialistic governmental piece of machinery to control marketing of farm products it will fix the price as low as possible in order to furnish itself with food as cheaply as possible.

It is the same crowd which has succeeded in getting La Follette and his lieutenants committed to the advocacy of electing a president and vice president by direct vote of the people—a policy which, if put into effect, would enable the large industrial centers to control the election and would, to all intents and purposes, give the agricultural states no voice whatever.

The hostility of the La Follette organization to the farmer is conclusively shown by the weekly publication known as Labor. This publication is owned, managed and edited wholly and exclusively by those who are officially connected with the La Follette party and have official part in the management of his campaign. Labor is the official organ of the La Follette-Wheeler party. It so states. The committee in charge of the La Follette campaign so states. Special editions of this publication are being circulated by the La Follette campaign committee.

On May 24 this publication issued a list of congressmen against whose re-nomination or election it urged its readers to vote. On this list was practically every Republican congressman of the Mississippi valley who had voted for the agricultural measures desired by the farmer. Among some of the outstanding Republican congressmen who were listed for opposition and defeat by this La Follette party publication are:

Representative Dickinson, of Iowa, who organized the farm bloc in the House. Representative Haugen, of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and one of the authors of the McNary-Haugen bill. Representative Tinscher, of Kansas, one of the authors of the Capper-Tinscher bill to regulate grain exchanges. Representative Burton, of North Dakota, one of the authors of the Norbeck-Burton bill. Representative Ketcham, of Michigan, a ditto farmer and former president of the Michigan State Grange. Every Republican congressman in the state of Idaho and of Colorado.

All of these Republican congressmen listed by the official organ of the La Follette party for defeat have, in the past four years, worked for and voted for every measure asked by farming organizations and farm communities. It has been due to them that all farm legislation has been enacted. The hypocrisy of the La Follette party in pretending to be a friend of the farmer is clearly in evidence by this record.

GRAIN OPENINGS

Chicago, Oct. 22 (INS).—Grains were higher at the opening today.

Wheat started 5-8 to 1 3-8 cents higher with fairly general buying and more liberal offerings as the market advanced. Trade was active.

Corn started unchanged to 3-8 cents higher but met with scattering selling and reacted.

Oats started 1-8 to 1-4 cents higher with small mixed trade and offerings limited until after corn turned weak. Provisions started lower reflecting the weakness in hogs and corn.

SENATOR LODGE RECOVERING RAPIDLY

Boston, Oct. 21. (INS.)—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is so far recovered today that "one would never know he had an operation," according to Dr. John H. Cunningham, his physician. Senator Lodge ate a hearty breakfast and appeared very happy. A speedy recovery is expected, Dr. Cunningham said.

Altitude

Altitude in astronomy is the vertical height of any point or body above the horizon. It is measured or estimated by the angle suspended between the object and the plane of the horizon, and may be either true or apparent. The apparent altitude is that which is obtained immediately from observation; the true altitude, that which results from correcting the apparent altitude, by making allowance for parallax, refraction, etc.

Annual Red Cross Roll Call Will Be Had On November 11th to 25th

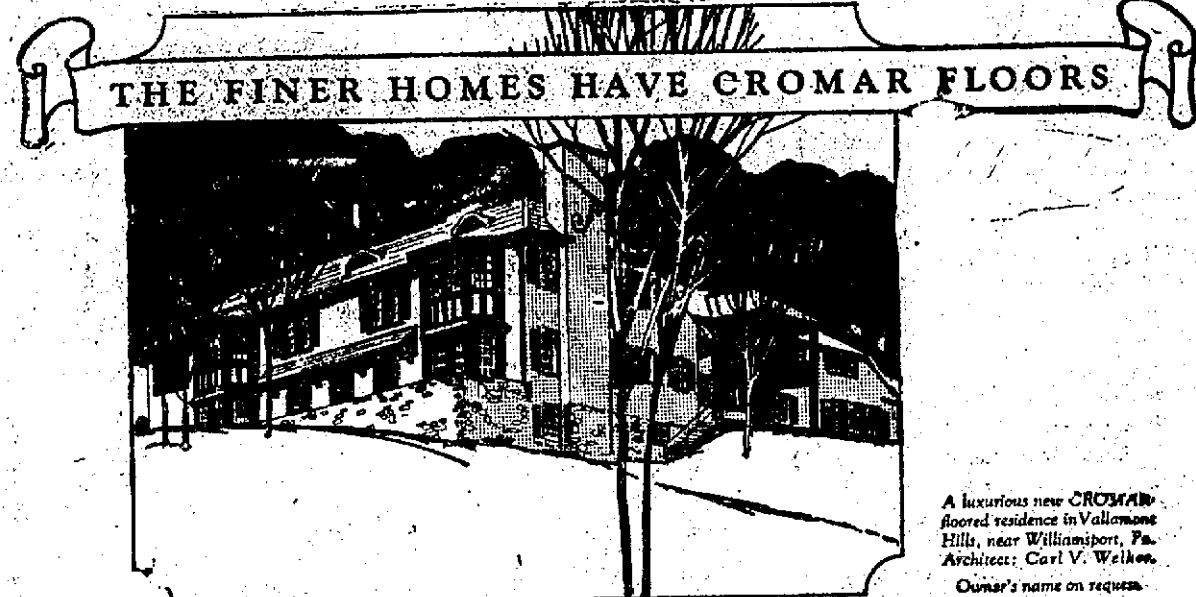

The annual Red Cross roll call for November 11th to 25th at which time it is hoped to raise $5500 for the purpose of financing the activities of the local American Red Cross chapter and its splendid public health nursing service.

has accomplished a world of good in this community and her activities should and undoubtedly will be continued as a general and generous response is looked forward to by those who are giving unselfishly of their time and efforts in maintaining the Red Cross chapter here and giving this community the decided advantages of this splendid organization.

A meeting of the representative citizens was recently held at Red Cross headquarters at which plans for the annual roll call drive were made and the minutes of that meeting will be published in order that all may see just what has been done and what will be attempted to make the Red Cross roll call this year the success it should be.

THE FINER HOMES HAVE CROMAR FLOORS

Every visitor admires the charm and beauty of CROMAR Floors

To make our homes charming and comfortable is the aim of everyone. And no single feature so completely transforms a home as do fine floors. There is no flooring more beautiful than CROMAR Ready Finished Oak. CROMAR is the result of a patented method of doing perfectly by machinery what so often is inadequately done by hand.

The flooring comes to you ready to use the minute it is laid. It is not necessary to scrape, sandpaper, fill, varnish and wax. That has been done at the factory. That is what is meant by "ready finished."

When CROMAR Floors are in your home—whether it's an old house or new—you will be delighted with the improved appearance. You will be equally pleased to find that they save much dusting and cleaning.

CROMAR Floors cost no more than ordinary hand finished oak floors—usually less. Two good carpenters can do the work in a day to a room. There are lumber dealers in your town who can supply you. Write for their names; also descriptive booklets and sample.

Nothing More Delicious Than GOOD BUTTER

Really, now, can you think of anything more delicious than good butter. There's a taste to it that nothing can compare with. There's nothing that can compare with GOOD BUTTER as an adjunct to the bread you eat and the things you cook.

Clearfield Butter

Made from the richest of creams, taken from pasteurized milk. Given every care from the time it leaves the farm to the time it is delivered to your grocer. Salted to just the exact touch to suit your taste. Worked until it is firm and smooth. That's Clearfield Butter.

Your grocer has it or can get it for you.

in bathroom appointments provide for invisible plumbing. Everything except the mirror is beautifully chaste white. Such a bathroom is a source of pleasure to the family and a matter of pride to the heads of the house. It also adds both distinction and value to the house. We shall be glad to tell you about the cost of such a lavatory and toilet. It is not so great as you may think.

Broods Over Poor Mark At School; 15 Year Old Girl Drowns Self In Surf

New York, Oct. 22 (INS.)—Brooding over poor marks at school Vera Zickman, 15, waded into the surf off Coney Island today until the waters closed over her head.

A few hours earlier the girl had attempted to commit suicide by swallowing iodine, but was revived.

A woman saw the girl disappear into the surf and told police.

GIVES FELLOW LIFT IN CAR AND IS NOW SUED FOR DAMAGES

Hereafter, when John McElwain, of South Fork, Pa., decides to give a stranger a lift in his car he is going to not only consult the guest about his driving but have the transient traveler also sign a release of all damage that might ensue incident to the trip.

On March 2nd last McElwain was in a Phillipsburg garage getting ready to drive to his home at South Fork. There he met Louis J. Whitmarsh, of Pittsburgh, and as Whitmarsh desired to go to Johnstown McElwain invited him to get in his car and go along. The invitation was accepted and a start made. Near the overhead bridge west of Tyrone the car left the road and ran against a telephone pole. Whitmarsh was injured in the wreck and on Monday last entered suit against McElwain in the Blair county courts in which damages to the extent of $15,000 is asked, alleging that McElwain drove his car at a high and dangerous rate of speed from the time the automobile left Phillipsburg until the smashup near Tyrone. The plaintiff represents that he sustained an injury to his back, severe lacerations of the face and body and has been rendered unable to assume his employment as sales manager for a Pittsburgh firm.

THIS IS A QUEER COUNTRY

This is a queer country of ours, and the unexpected and out of the ordinary is always happening or turning up. Snow flakes were in the air several times yesterday, but regardless of that fact Harvey Shearer, who drives one of the Graham Lumber yards trucks, found a snake about ten inches long slowly ambling about the lumber yard hunting a place to get his toes warm. We don't believe all the snake stories we print from time to time but we believe this one alright, because Harvey presented us with the reptile.

Class No. 7 of the West Side M. E. Sunday School held a delightful hallowe'en party at the home of Mrs. Charles Houser on McBride street last evening.

Add Amazing Endurance to Unequaled Results

The success of the Chrysler Six, which has made it literally the talk of the country, is well founded.

It is not due to some single engineering innovation of a spectacular nature. It is a success that involves every phase of performance and ownership.

It is based on such fundamentals as power production and application, weight distribution, space engineering and the essentials of economy.

It is a success that has completely changed prevailing ideas of automotive design deemed essential for finer motoring. It has swept into the discard the cumbersome and the wasteful.

To cap the climax come such records as the recent performance at Fresno, Calif., when a stock model covered 1,000 continuous miles in 1007 minutes, 54 seconds. To unprecedented results is now added positive proof of amazing stamina and dogged endurance.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Dealer everywhere.

PENN STATE READY TO ENTERTAIN 20,000 SATURDAY

State College, Pa., Oct. 22.—In preparation for the return of over 3000 graduates and former students for Alumni Homecoming Day next Saturday, eleven hundred freshmen brightened up the campus last Saturday afternoon. It was the annual "clean-up day" custom revived after a lapse of three years. Under the direction of upperclass captains the freshmen raked leaves, trimmed trees, cleaned underbrush from campus woods and even laid sod. The campus today was looking its best and the fall coloring of trees makes is a Central Pennsylvania beauty spot.

The homecoming next Saturday will be the fifth annual affair of its kind for the alumni. With the football game against Syracuse as the major attraction, former students from far and near have notified the alumni association here of their coming. The college keys will be turned over to alumni and their big day will be a constant round of entertainment, closing with an old time Penn State cider and pretzel feed and smoker in the college armory. Some agreeable surprises are promised alumni for the week end, starting with the football mass meeting on Friday evening.

STORE OPEN EVENINGS DURING DEMONSTRATION

For the accommodation of those who cannot come in during the day, Mr. Haskell and Mr. Hall will be at the store from 7 to 9 o'clock each evening to explain the new features of the GREAT MAJESTIC, and to receive your order. However, we will not have a sales force for the sale of other merchandise during these hours.

Special Demonstration Fri. Afternoon, October 23rd, at 4 o'clock GREAT MAJESTIC WALKING CAKE

This cake is 7 inches high and 13 inches square. It will be placed between two heavy boards and 15 ladies are invited to stand on it at one time, completely crushing it. Like the old saying, "Crushed to earth—will rise again," it comes immediately back to its former height and is served to those present. The airtight oven in the Majestic retains the moisture, which is again absorbed by the cake, being the reason why it rises to its former size.

Fifteen ladies will stand on this monster cake and afterwards the cake will be cut and served to those present. This cake will be baked in the Majestic Range at our demonstration, and is another proof of the wonderful baking which can easily be done with the Great Majestic Range because of the airtight asbestos-lined oven and the cast-iron-lined firebox. We bake and cook in the Majestic Range all week with a paper stovepipe, which proves that the heat is kept in the oven instead of being driven up the chimney.

FREE TO THE LADIES

Sign this Coupon and bring it in to our store personally during our Majestic Sales Week, October 20th to 26th and you will receive a useful Souvenir.
